

The Association of Compliance Officers in Ireland

Who we are

ACOI is the Voice of Compliance.

What we do

We seek to represent, educate and promote compliance. We provide education and professional development to equip compliance professionals with the competencies and skills necessary to carry out their roles.

Where We Want to Be

The leading global compliance membership association.

Why We Do It

To set and raise standards in compliance.

How We Do It

We seek to support the compliance profession:

- awarding professional designations supported by ongoing professional development
- providing leadership on the development of standards in compliance and embedding a culture of compliance in business
- developing a local and international community of compliance professionals

Our Strategy for the year ahead is to:

- Be the voice of compliance.
- Be the premier provider of education & professional development in compliance.
 - Continue expanding our local and global compliance network.
 - Promote ethical conduct and standards in the business community.
